

If you are a professional striking out on your own, you can learn from Aditi on how she built her professional identity and gained success. Thanks to Jio!

Meet Aditi an architect from Pune. After years of freelancing, Aditi recently started her own Architecture firm named ArchAd.

After losing several projects to competition, she realized that she was still being viewed as freelancer and not as a full-fledged professional service provider.

This got her thinking, and one of the first things she changed was her generic Email/ Domain ID to a professional one.

Aditi did this by getting a domain for her company. Her email is now 'Aditi@archad.com' and the response has been phenomenal.

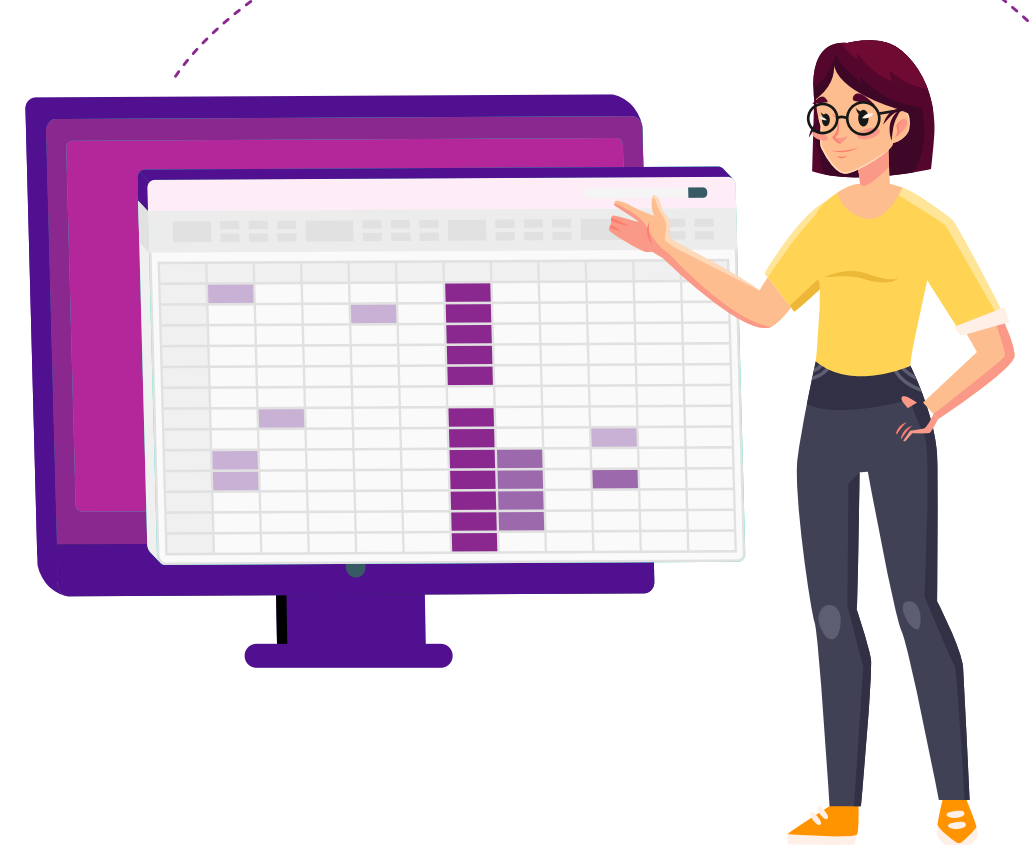

Just like Aditi, display your professional identity and credibility to customers and partners.
